

THE MORPHIA MANIA

Use of the Drug is Steadily Increasing.

SOME WOMEN ARE VICTIMS

Men Who Should Know Better are Learning to Dream Their Life Away—What a Druggist Says—Young Girls are Using the Stuff.

It has dawned upon some people who have been investigating that more people than the city imagines are using morphine in East Liverpool.

Upon learning that the dangerous drug was being consumed by a great many people in the city, the NEWS REVIEW decided to investigate, and the result is even worse than was anticipated. For some time the theme has been forcing itself upon those who come in contact with the unfortunates who are slowly but surely succumbing to the effects of the practice, and the people who know say that the increase is alarming. For years it was possible to count morphine victims on the fingers of any perfectly formed hand, but that time has passed. The use of the drug in the practice of medicine has given some patients, who begged the attending physician for a soothing potion, the first insight into its effect. After the pain had disappeared and the individual was well, the first slight indisposition would recall the drug, and to escape suffering the patient buys a few one-eighth grain tablets. The next time a few more are required, and the habit grows until some one is suffering all the tortures peculiar to the disease. The medical fraternity cannot be responsible, for they are compelled to use it in their practice, and pharmacists are called upon to keep it as they do any other drug. The whole responsibility rests with the people who insist upon slowly murdering themselves in order that they may enjoy the suppositious comfort which comes when the brain is clouded and the muscles refuse to respond to its demands.

A druggist, who enjoys a large trade, said when questioned on the subject that he had noticed a large increase in the demand for morphine during the last few years.

When the matter was first brought to his attention he recalled that the personnel of his customers was gradually changed. At one time they were men and women who used the drug because of constant bodily pain, but to these were added younger people. At first the recruits were young men, but soon young women were added to the list, and from them now comes the greater part of his patronage. The druggist is unable to account for this, but knows that his observation has not deceived him. The purchases of these people were small at first, but they have been gradually growing larger until at present some of them buy a bottle containing 60 grains every week. Whether they consume this amount individually the pharmacist is unable to say, but it is his belief that they do. He has noticed that these young girls have been taking the stuff as though it was without harm to themselves, and he cannot understand how they stand the effects without long ago giving up. Some of them have not suffered in personal appearance, but upon the faces of others the marks are plainly seen. Some married women are among the druggist's most faithful customers, but he finds that those who are without husbands take the dangerous drug in greater quantities. Among other things the gentleman stated that he has not followed closely the class of girls who use morphine, but it is his belief that they are scattered among all people in the city.

One dealer in drugs stated that he had refused to serve the trade any longer in this way, not knowing what serious results might follow. Others are strict in their dealings with customers who buy morphine, and will not sell it in quantities.

These startling revelations are sufficient to make the people who know nothing of the evil hold up their hands in holy horror, and there is no doubt that some measures should be taken to stop the rapidly growing practice. It is here in all its force, and before it assumes greater proportions there should be some check to keep it down. The victim of morphine is far more miserable than the victim of strong drink.

BROKE HIS HAND.

A Street Railwayman Silences a Musical Passenger.

When the repairing crew were at work under the street car with a broken axle near Lythe's yesterday, a Wellsville man in the car insisted on giving the other passengers a song and dance. This was so annoying to Will Coleman, one of the crew, that he asked the man to curb his merriment. The cessation only lasted a few minutes when there was more singing and dancing, and Coleman asked again. This time he received an insolent reply, so he promptly knocked the musical passenger through a window, and broke two bones in his right hand during the operation. He is off duty today. No arrests have grown out of the matter.

MATTHEWS STILL MISSING.

It is Said He Was Paid to Stay Away. Other Cases.

When the time came for the second trial of the city against saloonist John McFadden all the jurymen were in their places, and, but for one circumstance the case would have proceeded.

That circumstance was the absence of William Matthews, the most important witness for the prosecution, and the man who is said to have purchased the liquor on Sunday from McFadden, for which the latter was arrested. Solicitor Clark, for the city, made a brief but warm speech in which he made sensational charges. He claims that Matthews had been paid money for staying away from the trial, and while he charged no person with offering the bribe, it was plain to many who was meant. He characterized saloonists as "lacking in honor" and "disregarding the law" and said that if they had one such case every month the principal witness would always be kept away. Attorney Grosshans started to speak for the second time but the solicitor objected on the grounds that the prosecution had the opening and closing. Mayor Gilbert decided to continue the case until Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock and the defense noted an exception. A request to be allowed until tomorrow to prepare a bill of exceptions was granted. Matthews is said to have been in New Cumberland until yesterday, when he heard Chief Gill was looking for him, and he again disappeared. Solicitor Clark says the city will find him if it costs $100 to do it. Furthermore, Matthews will be jailed for contempt of court when captured.

The cases of Emmett Wilson versus J. C. Lutton for $24.75 and Marshal Green versus the same man for $27.50 were to have been tried at 10 o'clock this morning but will not come up until tomorrow.

CASES IN COURT.

A Small Rush of Business With the Squires.

The recent improvement in business is marked by a stir in the courts, and the squires are doing more business than they have known in months.

The case of G. Y. Travis against C. W. Young was set for trial in Squire Rose's court this afternoon. It is a counter claim on another suit, and has been set for hearing times innumerable, but for some reason has always been postponed.

The Smulbach Brewing company, of Wheeling, wants Edward Snyder to pay them a bill amounting to $175, and have placed it in the hands of Squire Travis, who will hear it next Monday morning at 8 o'clock.

J. M. Mason claims that J. J. Allison owes him $15.75 for work a labor, and has brought the matter into law by entering suit in the court of Squire Travis, who will hear all the particulars on Monday evening.

COXEY IS THIRD MAN.

Full Returns Show Taylor's Plurality Close to 10,000.

Hon. R. W. Taylor was interviewed by telephone this morning, and questioned regarding the exact plurality in the district. He said that he had the district complete, and it showed his plurality 9,834, so close to the 10,000 mark as to make it no joking matter for Ruff and Coxey. The common-wealer is third man in the race, and several bets in this city will be decided on that basis. The Populists here were longing for second place at least.

Improving the River.

A movement which originated among business men in Cincinnati and having for its object the improvement of the river is being worked, and will likely result in something great for the Ohio. The plan is to have the river improved its entire length for which congress is to appropriate $3,000,000 every year until the work is done.

A New Position.

Miss Stella McNutt has resigned her position in Ferguson & Hill's to accept one at the Boston store.

SUES FOR HIS MONEY

Frank Densmore Takes it to Common Pleas.

A SALEM MAN DAMAGED

He Claims That he Was Promised an Interest in the Patrol System For $200. And Thinks he Suffered When the Contract Was Broken.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

NEW LISBON, Nov. 8.—Frank Densmore, of East Liverpool, began action this morning asking that the court give him $100 due from William H. Densmore. He claims that he contracted with the defendant to build an addition to the Dresden pottery, and in the petition makes the Co-operative company also a defendant in the suit. Densmore asks the court to give him a lien on the property on West Market street, and if his claim is not satisfied, he wants the property sold and the debt paid.

Jeremiah Ressler filed the papers this morning which make Robert Spencer the defendant in a damage case involving $2,000. He says that Spencer owns the police and fire patrol system of Salem, and broke a contract with him involving the sale of a half interest in the property. Last spring, according to the petition, Spencer agreed to sell a half interest in the system to Ressler for $900. When the time came to pass over the property Spencer regretted his bargain and would not sell. This causes Ressler to believe that he has been damaged in the sum of $2,000.

The will case from Sallineville which was before Judge Billingsley yesterday was concluded, but the judge has not yet given a decision.

Lee McMillan filed with Judge Young his bond as assignee of William Barnett, the Elkrun township farmer who assigned last week, in the sum of $3,500, property secured. The order of private sale issued some time ago in the case of George Lower, assignee, versus Mathias Lower et al. was set aside this morning, and an order of public sale issued. The will of the late Elizabeth Hall, of Unity township, was filed for probate, and will be heard on November 14. An authenticated copy of the will of Sarah H. Coon, late of Allegheny county, Pa., was filed here and admitted to record in this county. A warrant was issued to Sheriff Lodge to convey to the Cleveland asylum John Montgomery.

Hunting a Modest Woman.

There was received at the postoffice yesterday a peculiarly addressed letter, and Postmaster Simms is wondering what mystery it contains. On the envelope are these words, written in a scrawling hand:

"Forward to a widow lady with dark brown hair and blue eyes, height five feet and two inches. Name don't know, so give to any lady who will call for her in East Liverpool, state of Ohio."

The letter was postmarked in a western town, and may bear a proposal of marriage to some one who has been advertising, and neglected to sign her name.

The Crockery Trade.

It was learned at one of the best potteries in the city today that the crockery trade is not as brisk as it was a few weeks ago. Their salesmen find orders scarce, but are hustling so that they can afford to keep them out. Some of the plants in town have orders more than a month ahead, while others say that they are being cleared up. The general sentiment among the manufacturers seems to point toward the exercise of good business ability and to whip the importers, even though they have the advantage.

A Result of the Election.

Some of the best known and most progressive farmers of St. Clair township were in the NEWS REVIEW office yesterday when the question of wool was raised, and an instance cited where a flockmaster, wanting to sell sheep at $1.50 each last week, had raised the price a dollar a head yesterday morning. Two members of the party said they believed they could afford to keep sheep for two years, and would invest in a few before the price, because of Republican expectations, got very high.

Seriously Ill.

O. E. McCoy, a well known resident of Gardendale, is confined to his home with an attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

Found His Mistake.

It is said of a well-known clerk in a business house that he was adding up long columns of figures the other day and could not make accounts balance.

He was so confident that he had made no mistake in addition that he offered to treat the house to the oysters. In five minutes another clerk had convinced him that he was faulty. The over-confident clerk paid for the oysters, but he looks sad now, for he has discovered that the figures were quietly but deftly changed on him.

News From the River.

The river below is rising very slowly but a little more water is looked for. Few if any towboats are passing by this point for Pittsburg, as all the boats are having hard times of it. This is caused by the low stage of water and high winds. The packets announced yesterday will be here on time.

Repairs have been completed on the steamer John A. Wood and the boat made a very satisfactory trip to Davis Island dam yesterday. She is now ready to go out on the first coal boat stage of water.

All towboats arriving in Pittsburg from below are immediately sent with their empty barges to the pools.

Died When Away.

Wade Bata, aged 18 years, died at the residence of his brother, McChel-land Bata, Sunnyside, yesterday afternoon. The cause of death was typhoid malaria, and deceased had been ill several weeks. The body was taken to Graham, W. Va., this morning, and funeral services were held there. Mrs. Bata, mother of deceased, has been nursing him, and together with his two brothers, accompanied the remains. Bata has been working in this city.

To Enforce the Law.

The Humane society are hampered in their work because they have no money with which to carry out the laws of the society and the statutes of the state. To make up the deficiency the society propose to hold a fair or festival in the near future. They are anxious to have the law carried out to the letter, and hope for a large patronage. Already they have been compelled to pass several cases because of the lack of funds.

Changed the Date.

Doctor Huston has received word that the organist who is to play when the new organ at the First Methodist Episcopal church is dedicated can not be here at the time already set, and will be here next Wednesday evening. Prayer meeting will be held an hour earlier than usual, and the recital will commence at 8 o'clock. The organist was an assistant at the World's Fair, and has a reputation that will undoubtedly fill the church.

Gone to the Infirmary.

James Thompson came here from Salem the other day, and going to the poor authorities stated that he could no longer take care of himself, and he wanted to be taken to the infirmary. As the funds at hand were not enough to warrant the transportation of James, he was given a letter of introduction, and informed he could make the trip on foot. He started to walk, apparently glad that he was soon to have a home.

All Right Next Week.

Fred H. Bostwick, who has been pushing work at the light plant, is gratified at the results already reached. By next week he expects to see everything complete, and the temporary service made as good as it can be made. The incandescent lights, which have been weak, will be on in force, and the East End will be given its just allotment. The company spared nothing to make the service complete.

Turned Down.

Manager James E. Orr, of the Grand Opera House, was disconsolate when the election returns began to come in, and grew more weary yesterday morning when the Pittsburg papers confirmed the reports. Finally the afternoon papers arrived, and they proved the last straw. Jim said not a word, but went to the window and sadly turned upside down two tobacco advertisements containing pictures of roosters.

Doctor Crawford's Lecture.

Doctor Crawford, the first member of the Young Men's Christian association lecture course, will be at the Grand Opera House tomorrow evening, and should be greeted by a large audience. In magnificent language the gentleman paints wondrous pictures for his audience, and deals with "Savonarola" in a masterly manner. The lecture is among the best being delivered today in the country.

Searching For Relatives.

George Dawson, of this place, was in Allegheny yesterday looking for a brother of the late Thomas Dorsey, who was in the clothing business there.

THE CORONER TO COME

A Post Mortem In the Thomas Dorsey Case.

MRS. DORSEY REQUESTED IT

Chief Gill Arranged to Have It Take Place This Afternoon, But the Undertaker Objected The Wife Wants All Mystery Cleared.

The Dorsey case has caused so much comment in the city that Mrs. Dorsey has decided to have an inquest, and requested the authorities to move in that direction today.

Chief Gill was notified and lost no time in sending word to Coroner Straughm at New Lisbon this morning, and was informed that the official would be here early this afternoon. Mrs. Dorsey insists that her husband died from the cause given in her printed interview yesterday, but felt that if there was a suspicion of foul play it should be cleared up.

Late this afternoon it was learned that the undertaker would not consent to a post mortem until tomorrow, and the time was changed. The authorities will see that it takes place early since the funeral has been set for 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The interment will be in Spring Grove cemetery.

The township trustees took charge of the matter today, and Thomas Dorsey will be buried at the expense of the public. The matter is surrounded by such circumstances that they do this under protest according to their statement to a reporter this afternoon. An effort is being made today to have some liquor men bear a part of the expense.

An Unfortunate Evangelist.

George H. Messenger, who said he was an evangelist and lived in Bellaire, came to the trustees yesterday in destitute circumstances. In company with his mother he had started for Pittsburg, and not having enough money to make the trip had left the train at Wellsville, and came here on a street car. The trustees provided the unlucky pair with transportation to Rochester where they will be given additional aid.

Fire Apparatus For East End.

East End people will be glad to know that the old ladder truck and hose reel that have been kept at city hall are being moved to their part of the city. When it was determined to change the arrangement at city hall, the committee decided that East End should have the old apparatus. Work at city hall is being pushed and the officials expect to occupy their quarters soon.

The People are Quiet.

Mayor Gilbert and Marshal Gill sit in silence these days, and when called upon for an explanation, can scarcely find words to answer. The cause of the astonishment lies in the fact that there has not been an arrest since election day, one of the most astonishing events ever noted by the authorities. In the past police court has always been busy immediately after election day.

Mining by Electricity.

Engineers from Cleveland were in Sallineville yesterday preparing to fit up the new mine of the Ohio & Pittsburg Coal Mining company with electrical machinery. They propose to use the most approved methods in getting out the coal, and are spending a considerable sum of money in machinery. When completed the plant will be one of the finest in eastern Ohio.

Looking For Lenz.

Several prominent wheelmen have started a fund in Pittsburg for the purpose of wiring to Tebriz, and ascertaining the particulars of the absence of Frank Lenz. The telegram will cost 60 cents a word, and as a long answer is expected in return, they want a goodly sum. To last evening, $25 had been subscribed and much more is expected.

Working at Burgettstown.

Emmet Crites returned yesterday from Beaver where he has been engaged in painting one of the finest residences in that section. He left today for Burgettstown where he will work for several days on a church there.

An Extra Sheet.

Owing to a press of advertising, the NEWS REVIEW will tomorrow consist of six pages. Be sure and get the paper complete from the carrier.

THE VOTE IN OHIO.

Later Returns Make the Plurality Over 130,000.

THE CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATION.

It is Now Believed to Stand Nineteen Republicans and Two Democrats—Republicans Refuse to Concede the Election of Sarg and Layton.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 8.—More complete returns indicate that the Republican plurality for secretary of state will exceed 130,000. The present Ohio delegation in congress consists of 11 Democrats and 10 Republicans. The newly elected delegation consists of 19 Republicans and 2 Democrats, as follows:

First district—Charles P. Taft (Rep.); Second, J. H. Bromwell (Rep.); Third, P. J. Sarg (Dem.); Fourth, F. C. Layton (Dem.); Fifth, F. B. Dewitt (Rep.); Sixth, George W. Hulick (Rep.); Seventh, George W. Wilson (Rep.); Eighth, H. Strong (Rep.); Ninth, J. H. Southard (Rep.); Tenth, L. J. Fenton (Rep.); Eleventh, Charles H. Grosvenor (Rep.); Twelfth, D. K. Watson (Rep.); Thirteenth, S. R. Harris (Rep.); Fourteenth, W. S. Kerr (Rep.); Fifteenth, S. C. Van Vorhis (Rep.); Sixteenth, Lorenzo Danford (Rep.); Seventeenth, A. S. McClure (Rep.); Eighteenth, W. T. Taylor (Rep.); Nineteenth, S. A. Northway (Rep.); Twentieth, C. R. Beach (Rep.); Twenty-first, T. E. Burton (Rep.).

The Republicans do not concede the election of Sarg in the Third and Layton in the Fourth, the latter's plurality being less than 100, and the former's 226.

HASTINGS MUCH PLEASED.

He is at Home Receiving Congratulations Later Returns.

BELLEVILLE, Pa., Nov. 8.—General Hastings has been receiving messages of congratulation from all quarters, while resting quietly at home, and he is much pleased with his handsome majority in the state—especially in his own town and county.

He will remain here for 10 days, resting from the labors of the campaign, and then he will go to Philadelphia and prepare his business so as to be able to devote his time entirely to his office. A large ratification meeting will be held probably on Saturday night.

The next delegation in congress from Pennsylvania will be composed of 28 Republicans and 2 Democrats, a Republican gain of 8. The Democrats have elected only Hart in the Eighth and Erdman in the Ninth district. The next senate will be composed of 40 Republicans and 10 Democrats, with the house more than two-thirds Republican. In the judiciary districts the Republicans elected 11 of their candidates and the Democrats 3. Judge Clayton is re-elected in the Delaware district over Dickinson, and Judge Reeder is re-elected in the Third district over Henry W. Scott.

Complete returns received from all but half a dozen of the 67 counties in this state give Hastings a plurality of 133,378, a gain of 139,631 over 1892, when Harrison's plurality was 93,747.

A Pittsburgh paper says: "Unofficial returns from all but seven districts in the Allegheny portion of the Twenty-fourth district give Acheson 9,677 and Sipe 3,647 votes, a plurality for Acheson of 6,030. The districts yet to be heard from will probably increase the plurality slightly.

The vote in Allegheny county was: Hastings, 55,759; Slinger, 50,685; Lyons, 14,744; Rilling, 14,382.

One Democratic Legislator Elected.

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—The latest returns show that of the 22 state senators elected every one is a Republican. Of the 100 members of the house all are Republican save one, John Donovan, of the Bay county district. Many districts which had not returned Republican legislators for a quarter of a century elected Republicans.

Democrats Don't Give Up Tennessee.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 8.—The Commercial Appeal claims the election of Peter Turner, Democrat, for governor, by 3,000 plurality. Chairman W. H. Carroll of the Democratic state committee denies most emphatically that he has conceded the election of H. C. Evans, Republican.

Mixed Up in Nevada.

CARSON CITY, Nev., Nov. 8.—From the meager returns received the indications are that Jones, nominee of the Free Silver party, has been elected, and Cleveland, Republican, for governor, by from 500 to 1,000. Indications are in favor of Newlands, silver candidate for congress.

Sheriff Cook Defeated.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Sheriff Cook of Washington C. H., O., who prevented a mob from hanging a negro who confessed to rape and was sentenced to 20 years, was defeated at the election by 1,650. He was a Republican and had 1,000 votes in his favor to start with.

The Vote in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The total corrected vote for governor in New York state, outside of Sullivan county, was 1,296,259, of which Morton received 967,985; Hill, 514,163; Wheeler, 24,511. Morton's plurality 133,422; Morton's majority 128,911.

Greenhalge Plurality Increases.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Greenhalge's plurality exceeds 71,000. The pluralities of Massachusetts Republican congressmen exceed those of 1892 by thousands. Four Democratic senators and about 50 representatives to the Massachusetts legislature have been chosen.

Kansas Undoubtedly Republican.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 8.—The Republicans have carried Kansas by a plurality of possibly 30,000, and will have a slight majority over all. Republican Chairman Leland claims also the election of congressmen in the seven districts.

WEST VIRGINIA REPUBLICAN.

A Solid Delegation in Congress—Faulkner Wins Against Wilson's Defeat.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 8.—With this legislature having 15 Republican majority on joint ballot, the election of Stephen B. Elkins to succeed J. N. Camden as United States senator, is generally conceded. Elkins managed the campaign against Wilson as well as the legislative canvass. Republicans are elected in all four of the congressional districts as follows: First, B. B. Doyener, 3,000; Second, Alston G. Dayton, 2,000; Third, James H. Huling, 3,000; Fourth, Warren Miller, 2,000.

A. G. DAYTON.

The counties in Mr. Wilson's district which have been heard from officially are: Jefferson 1,450, Hampshire 1,300, Hardy 900, Pendleton 102 majority for Wilson, and Preston 1,236. Mineral 230, and Berkeley 220 for Dayton. There are eight counties yet to count officially, most of which will give Republican pluralities. The Republicans are claiming Dayton's election by 2,000, but Senator Faulkner says he does not concede Wilson's defeat, and will not do so until the official returns are in. It is claimed that the Republicans have a plurality of from 8,000 to 10,000 in the state.

The Returns in Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 8.—Complete returns from 65 out of 70 counties in this state give the Republicans a plurality of 54,629. This will probably be increased by the returns to come. The Republicans control the senate by 7 majority, electing 20 senators out of 24, and having 4 holdovers out of 19. The assembly is Republican. The Republicans gain 6 congressmen.

Missouri Goes Republican.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8.—From the latest official returns received from 45 counties in Missouri, Republican gains of 16,000 are shown and the election of the entire state ticket by a plurality of at least 10,000 is assured. The lower house of the state legislature is Republican, but the Democrats who have a majority in the senate will be able to carry things on a joint ballot.

Populists Control the Legislature.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Nov. 8.—Returns from the major portion of the Territory make it positive that Flynn, Republican delegate to congress, will have fully 5,000 majority. The territorial legislature will be very close, with the balance of power in both houses in the hands of the Populists.

Republican Senators Insured.

CHICAGO, W. Va., Nov. 8.—William A. Richards (Rep.) is elected governor by 2,500 plurality, defeating Lewis C. Seely (Pop.) and Holliday (Dem.) Republicans will have a majority in the legislature, insuring the election of two Republican senators.

Elated in North Dakota.

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 8.—Congressman Johnson (Rep.) is elected by an increased majority over Muir (fusion) and Reeve (Independent Dem.). Allin (Rep.) is elected governor by a majority over Kinter (Dem.) and Wallace (Populist). Republican majority about 7,000.

Close in North Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 8.—The state judicial ticket is so close that it will require an official vote to decide it. The legislature is in doubt. Democrats hope for it, but make no claims. Populist and Republican leaders are very confident.

A Greater New York W.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Returns in all except a very few missing districts show an apparent plurality in New York city for consolidation, or the greater New York, of over 46,000 in the city, while the rapid transit measure shows an apparent plurality of 82,400.

The Result in Washington.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 8.—Returns from over one-half the state of Washington show that the Republican plurality will be more than 15,000. The legislature is Republican in both branches and on joint ballot by at least 25.

Claims Everything in Montana.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 8.—Chairman Lant states that Hartman, (Rep.) for congress, and Hunt, (Rep.) for associate justice, are undoubtedly elected. He claims the legislature will be Republican by 15 on joint ballot.

Republican Ticket Elected in Idaho.

BOISE, Ida., Nov. 8.—The entire Republican ticket is elected by 2,000 majority or more. The returns indicate that the legislature will be Republican. Mormon votes have been very strongly Republican.

New Mexico Legislature in Doubt.

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 8.—Partial returns indicate the election of T. C. Caton (Rep.) for delegate. The legislature is still in doubt, the chances being favorable for a Republican majority.

CROKER PREDICTED IT

He Told Faulkner the Democrats Would Be Defeated.

MANY DEMOCRATS DIDN'T VOTE.

The Senator Says Dissensions in the Party Kept Them Away From the Polls. Stevenson Says the Democrats Were Made Scapegoats—Other Opinions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Senator Faulkner, chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, when asked for an expression of opinion on the result of the election, said:

"I do not desire to go into a discussion of the causes leading to the tidal wave which has placed the Republicans in power again in the house," he remarked. "But I think it is proper to note that these evidences of apparent popular approval in the election of so large a majority of a party to the control of the house is not evidence of a change by the voter of his political principles."

Mr. Faulkner then went on to say that the recent dissensions, etc., had caused the Democrats to stay away from the polls. Then he said:

"There was only one man who ever intimated to me that such a landslide was possible and that man was Richard Croker. Sometime ago he was present at a meeting of the committee in New York. He then declared that no matter how much we fought or how well that the Republicans would sweep the country, Hill would be beaten, he asserted, New York city would be lost, and the whole country would go the same way. I asked him how he, who said he was out of politics, could find reasons upon which to base such an opinion."

"Oh!" he explained with a wave of his hand toward the gentlemen present. "When I want to find out what the political sentiment is, I don't ask Martin or Gilroy or the leaders. I get on street cars and talk with the men who don't know who I am and find out the way the real drift."

Stevenson Explains the Defeat.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Nov. 8.—Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, vice president, when asked to state his opinion as to the causes leading up to the Democratic defeat, said: "The result is due in part to the financial depression which came upon the country soon after the inauguration of Mr. Cleveland. While the Democrats were in no way responsible for this, they were made the scapegoats. It was also in part due to the delay of congress in passing the tariff bill. Had that bill become a law 90 days earlier than it did, it is quite probable that the business conditions of the country would have so adjusted themselves that the political result would have been different."

Harrison on the Election.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Ex-President Harrison, in an interview, says Democracy is utterly and finally repudiated and says that the people can be trusted in any great crisis. Now that the Republicans are in power again, they should exercise that power with fidelity and patriotism.

Tom Reed Talks.

PORTLAND, Nov. 8.—Ex-Speaker Thomas B. Reed says of the election: "Democrats everywhere, either by silence or by action, seem to have helped to partially save the Union from the follies of inexperienced and injudicious men."

Harrity Has Nothing to Say.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—Hon. William F. Harrity, chairman of the national Democratic committee, in response to a telegram requesting an expression on the election, said: "Have nothing to say. This was evidently a Republican year."

Henry Watterson's Opinion.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 8.—Henry Watterson, in the Courier-Journal, partially blames Democratic defeat on what he says was Cleveland's silent attitude toward the Democratic ticket in New York.

Says They Used Money.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 8.—Congressman Springer, in an interview, attributes Democratic defeat to the free use of money by the Republicans.

Waite's Tale of Woe.

DENVER, Nov. 8.—Governor Waite says Wall Street bought Democrats and the women were against him in explaining his defeat.

Colonel Colt Will Testify.

WASHINGTON, C. H., Nov. 8.—Colonel A. B. Colt, upon whose testimony Colonel James M. Edwards has been holding back his verdict as to the necessity and responsibility for the militia's firing on the 17th of October, in this city, has written a letter assuring him that he would appear in Washington C. H. and testify before him at any time after the 12th of November. The testimony of Colonel Colt is regarded as of great importance, and is looked forward to with considerable interest. What bearing it will have upon the coroner's verdict it is hard to say, and whether there will be any arrests following the verdict is a question but few, if any, can answer.

Terrible Crimes by the Cooks.

FT. SMITH, Ark., Nov. 8.—Jim French and three other members of the Cook gang raped three girls in the suburbs of Colagah, I. T. After committing the fiendish crimes the bandits mounted their horses and rode off. A posse of citizens was at once organized and started in pursuit of the brutes, but as far as heard from they failed to capture them.

Mohammed Russell in Toledo.

TOLEDO, Nov. 8.—Mohammed Alex. Russell Webb is delivering a series of lectures here, beginning today. Mr. Webb has always been a student on religious lines and has read much about Buddhism and Islamism, and the other isms of the Orient.

Ground was broken near the china works yesterday for a building that will be used in connection with the foundry of A. J. Boyce.

The cases of scarlet fever that are in charge of Health Officer King are all improving, and there is no apprehension that one of the children will die. No new cases are listed in the city.

Word reaches here from Columbus that an East Liverpool boy attending the university was the victim of some of his fellow-students not long ago. They determined to give him the benefit of their experience, and the hazing was complete.

Mrs. Eliza White has returned to her home in East End from Pittsburgh, where for ten days she lay in a hospital undergoing treatment for her eyes. A difficult operation was performed last week and the lady left the hospital with her sight very much improved.

The question of renumbering all the houses in the city, and indicating streets by means of signs, caused a heated argument in a Diamond business house last evening. The crowd favored the improvement, and the man who opposed it acknowledged that he was wrong.

William Bryan, a well known resident of East End, has been lying dangerously ill at his home, and it is feared that his death is a matter of but a few days at the most. Mr. Bryan was a soldier in the late war and his illness is the result of his years of service on the battlefield.

Francis, Murphy, the great temperance orator, has just closed a successful campaign in Alliance and will move on Salem some time during December. The gentleman wanted to come to this place, but his proposition was not accepted. It is estimated that 3,000 persons signed the pledge during the Alliance meetings.

The funeral of Mrs. Barney Smelzenbach, who died at her home in East End Tuesday night, took place from the Second Methodist Episcopal church at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The edifice was filled with friends of the deceased, and Reverend Huston officiated. The remains were laid to rest in Riverview cemetery.

The Doctor's Protective association will meet tonight in regular monthly session in the office of Dr. L. D. Williams. The subject for discussion will be diphtheria and other throat troubles which have prevailed in this section, although not to an alarming extent. An interesting session is expected.

Stage Manager William Bridge received a severe shaking up while working at the Grand Opera House yesterday morning. He was engaged on one of the narrow walks near the roof when a rope slipped, and he fell to the stage floor. Fortunately he alighted on his feet, but his fall of 20 feet or more made him feel uneasy for a while.

When the rain was falling yesterday, and the weather seemed the most disagreeable of the season, workmen were seen laying brick on top of the tower at the central high school. The slaters began work yesterday, and will soon have the structure under cover. The progress of the work has been impeded but little during the rainy weather.

A couple of Jethro neighbors got into a dispute yesterday over a small amount of money and it is said that the affair ended in one of the men being knocked down. How the fracas would have ended is a matter of doubt as a son of one of the men came out of the house at that moment and threatened to thrash his father if he participated further in the brawl.

Residents in different of the suburbs are complaining of the board walks, or rather the absence of them in their sections. In some places the walks are broken, and in other parts have been taken away by individuals in search of fuel. There is a general opinion that council should furnish new walks before winter comes in its severity. Council decided some time ago to order board walks torn up if residents did not repair them.

Persons residing on Lincoln avenue near Spring street were complaining bitterly last night because some human driver had tied his horse to a fence, and left him standing for hours in the sleet. The unfortunate horse had tramped a big hole in the street, and eaten as much of the fence as he could reach. There are some teamsters in town who deserve the attention of the humane society and the owner of this horse is among them.

Wanted Humane Men.

A motorman on the electric line inquired of a passenger last night if there was a Humane society in the city. He was covered with snow and rain and was compelled to face the almost blinding substance without the slightest protection. He could not see more than a dozen feet in front of the car.

Over an Embankment.

Word reached here this morning that two young men well known here, but residing a short distance from Georgetown, were driving between this city and Smith's Ferry Tuesday night, when they drove over an embankment. Both were bruised, and the buggy was badly broken. Their names could not be learned.

A Democratic View.

The inflation idea of Coxe caught the Democratic gudgeons. He made them believe that the government would fill the pockets of each one with greenbacks if he was elected to congress. These deluded fellows will now have plenty of time to reflect over their folly.—Lisbon Patriot.

The Orphan of New York.

The play at the Grand tonight possesses those qualities which never fail to interest, and is numbered among the most pleasing performances on the stage. The plot thrills and the humor creates laughter, the essentials for a pleasant evening in any theater.

After THREE MONTHS of Daily Wear

This Collar
Is Still in Good Condition.

That's because it's the "CELLULOID" Collar. Its original cost was 25 cts., and it cost the wearer nothing afterwards to keep it clean. When soiled, simply wipe off with sponge or wet cloth.

These collars and cuffs are water-proof, and are the only waterproof goods made with an interlining of linen; therefore the only ones that can last and give absolute satisfaction. Every piece of the genuine is stamped as follows:

Refuse anything that is not so marked, and if your dealer has not got the right kind send direct to us, enclosing amount, and we will mail you a sample postpaid. Collars 25 cts. each. Cuffs 50 cts. pair. Give size, and state whether stand up or turned-down collar is wanted.

WEBSTER'S SMALL FEES.

The Great Lawyer's Income Was Unusually Limited Even For His Day.

One of our correspondents has been so lucky as to fall in with a little leather covered book, like those of bank depositors, which contains Daniel Webster's autograph record of his legal receipts. This chronicle fills 28 pages and extends a little more than from 1835 to 1826 inclusive. The first entry, dated September in the former year, is of $50, and the second of $20, for retaining on the New Hampshire circuit. The first fee of $1,000 was paid in May, 1834, by a Mr. Badger. Services regarding Ciley's will commanded $800. The total amount for the first year was footed up at $13,140, with the remark, "Sept. 22, 1834, thus done and concluded."

A similar summing up appears at the close of each other year. The second total is $15,183.74; the third is $21,793. The first entry of $2,000 was in 1835, March 7; the first of $3,000 Dec. 7 in the same year. The last payment was in respect to Florida land. The largest single honorarium was $7,500. In February of the fourth year $5,000 is set down as bestowed in a case of Trinity church, New York.

In turning over this record leading metropolitan and even provincial lawyers are astonished that Webster, although 20 years in Boston, so undervalued his services. He learned better at last. When Robert C. Winthrop looked at the earliest date, he said, "That's just the time that I was ending my studies in Webster's office," and the chronology led him to add that Webster never wrote a firm hand. Nobody surveyed the relic with more interest than Dr. O. W. Holmes. Among other things he said: "Had the influx been tenfold, Webster's purse would have remained empty still. Had its capacity received like the sea, whatever entered there would have run off like water from the back of a duck."—New York Post.

PROPHETIC VICTOR HUGO.

His Startling Prediction About Napoleon III Came True.

The Duc de Morny, Napoleon's mouth-piece, actually wrote these truly infamous words: "If you arrest Victor Hugo, do what you will with him." It was soon after this, when Napoleon, wading through blood, trampling upon women and children, persecuting and silencing all that was best in France, confirming his throne by bribery, corruption, imprisonment, banishment and wholesale murder—it was at such a moment, this adventurer having got himself accepted by the courts of Europe as the ruler of the French, that Victor Hugo hurled against the "Man of December" these truly appalling but prophetic words:

"Let us not slay this man. Let us keep him alive. A superb punishment! Oh, if one day he might pass along the highway naked, bowed down, trembling as the grass trembles at the wind, under the execration of the whole human race! People, stand aside! The man is marked with a sign! Let Cain pass. He belongs to God."

An eyewitness described to me Napoleon III as he appeared on the evening before Sedan—an old, bowed down looking man, stooping on his horse, the dye washed out of his hair, his mustache dragged, passing unsaluted by his own officers, with the common soldiers grinding their teeth and muttering curses upon him. Had this vision risen before the eyes of the prophet poet in 1852, his words could hardly have been more aptly chosen.—H. R. Howells in Independent.

Argument.

Newsboy—Paper, sir?
Solemn Looking Citizen—My dear boy, I would like to oblige you, but I can't read.

Newsboy—Yes, sir. Want a shine? Dem feet's wuth spendin a nickel on if the head ain't.—Chicago Tribune.

Solitary confinement is calculated, doctors state, to produce melancholia, suicidal mania and loss of reason. Nine months of absolutely solitary confinement are almost certain to result in the mental ruin of the convict.

QUEER ASTRONOMY.

THAT OF THE CHINESE, FOR IT IS AS YET MERELY ASTROLOGY.

There is no Telescope in the Peking Observatory, but Many Elaborate Instruments of No Apparent Use—Wonderful Bell in the Observatory Tower.

Astronomy in China is in a very primitive condition. The observatory at Peking is the only one belonging to China which is of any importance. It is situated upon a terrace, which runs along the fortifications of the city and could, if necessary, be used as a fortress.

The instruments which it contains are remarkable for their historical interest and artistic beauty rather than for their scientific value. Perhaps the most interesting of these is the huge bronze quadrant sent by Louis XIV to the Chinese Emperor Kang Hi in the seventeenth century. It is probably the most modern and consequently the most accurate instrument in the whole collection. The chief piece of the observatory is an extremely ornate bronze instrument which was constructed by the chief astronomer of the Emperor Kublai-Khan in the thirteenth century. The form of the instrument somewhat resembles a modern equatorial, but its use is problematical. This astronomer, whose name was Kou Shou King, may be called the Napoleon of Chinese astronomy, for he was the first to construct instruments of any practical value, and the observatory owes to him nearly all its astronomical appliances. The gigantic celestial sphere is another object of interest. Though 6 feet in diameter and weighing more than a ton, yet it can be easily rotated by a child, so carefully is it balanced.

The instruments are all of very ornamental construction. Utility was a secondary consideration to appearance, and the native workmen who constructed them were far more concerned about the dragons with flames issuing from their mouths and the hideous figures adorning the instruments than they were about the accuracy of the divisions.

The number of men employed by the Celestial government to manage the observatory is very large. Including all the officials and salaried students, there are 200. There is a chancellor at the head, and after him are directors, sub-directors and assistant sub-directors without number. A post in the Peking observatory, though honorary, is considered to be a very important position, and the present chancellor is an uncle of the emperor.

His subordinates are also men of rank, the two directors having a right to the button of precious stones and a jeweled image of the sea raven, which is worn on the heart. Their offices are hereditary (about the only ones in China which are), because they alone have the calculation tables which the Jesuits introduced in the seventeenth century, and they keep them carefully hidden away.

One of the principal features in a modern observatory is a telescope. In the Peking observatory there is not a single telescope, and there never has been one, or at least there is no record of it. This is not astonishing in view of the use which the Chinese make of astronomy. The only real value it has for them is to determine their numerous fast days and the dates of idolatrous feasts which the emperor periodically holds at the various temples when he executes the sacrifices and performs the rites laid down in the sacred books.

The astronomy of the Chinese was in fact and is yet merely astrology. The duty of fixing these dates falls upon the officials of the observatory, and the council of the board also meets on the last day of every year, and at midnight the chancellor solemnly ascertains the direction of the wind and informs the board. They then draw their conclusions, and the result is circulated far and wide.

The most favorable direction of the wind is from the northwest, and should this wind prevail every sort of happiness may be expected during the ensuing year. The Chinese year begins Feb. 14. On that date, 1894, the wind was from the southeast.

The clocks used in the observatory are all water clocks, like the ancient clepsydra of the Romans, and an important part of the duties of the observatory officials is to ring the changes of the night watches on the great bell of Peking, which hangs in the bell tower and weighs 120,000 pounds, is 14 feet high, 34 feet in circumference and is made of bronze 9 inches thick. It is struck by a wooden beam, so that the noise made by it is not proportionate to its size.

In the drum tower are kept the incense sticks, which are continually kept burning and which mark the passage of time in conjunction with the water clocks. Such are the primitive means which the Chinese possess for becoming acquainted with astronomical subjects, and though the history of Chinese astronomy begins with that of the empire yet the vast majority still believe that the earth is the immovable center of the world.—New York World.

Touched by His Loneliness.

An old dandy was out yesterday perambulating the streets with a stock of fish for sale. "Here's your fine fish!" said he. "Buy from the old man who has got nobody in the world except nine children." A chord of sympathy in the hearts of many was touched by the old man's plaint of loneliness, and he soon had all of his fish disposed of.—Florida Times-Union.

In 1837 the narrative of the adventures of a highwayman was bound in his own skin at Boston with the inscription outside, "His liber Waltonius cute ompactus est" (This book was bound in the skin of Walton).

The most abundant free metal in the earth's crust is copper.

NEW YORK'S STATUES.

The City Erected the Worth Monument and Private Enterprise the Others.

It is a peculiarity about the public statues in New York city that they have had to be provided by popular subscription with little or no aid from the city. An exception to the rule is the monument in Madison square erected in 1857 in honor of Major General Worth. The city paid for that. Most of the other statues have been erected by private enterprises.

Individuals paid for the bronze statue of Franklin on Printing House square, that of Alexander Hamilton in Central park, the statue of Daniel Webster in the same place and the Irving statue in Bryant square. The Scotch residents of New York contributed to the erection of the Scott statue in Central park in 1871 and of the Robert Burns statue in 1880. The German citizens of New York presented the bronze bust of Humboldt on the one hundredth anniversary of his birth, in 1869, and ten years before that they had provided for the expense of the Schiller statue in Central park. The French citizens of New York raised the money for the Lafayette statue erected in Union square in 1876. Irish citizens for the bust of Thomas Moore, erected in Central park in 1880; the Venezuelan statue of Bolivar in 1884, and the Italian residents of New York for two statues—that of Mazzini, erected in Central park in 1878, and the Garibaldi statue, erected in Washington square a few years later.

The statue of Holley, the civil engineer, was unveiled in 1890 by the civil engineers, and the telegraphers gave the statue of Professor Morse in Central park, which was erected in 1871. The German singing societies contributed the statue of Beethoven erected in Central park in 1884, and the postmen furnished that of S. S. Cox, erected in Astor place. The Lincoln statue in Union square was erected by popular subscription in 1865. The equestrian statue of George Washington on the same square is many years older. The latest statue of Washington was erected on the subway steps facing Broad street in 1889. There are three statues of illustrious Americans on Madison square proper, exclusive of the Worth monument. They perpetuate the memories of Admiral Farragut, William H. Seward and Roscoe Conkling.—New York Sun.
